Canopy transmissivity

Vegetation optical depth increases with canopy water content, as shown by our dual-receiver GNSS transmissometry experiment over a full growing season in a beech forest.

Diurnal cycle

The diurnal cycle of VOD follows leaf water potential, with a minimum in the early afternoon (Smith et al., 2020).